

Infection rate lower in India; [ONT Edition]

Toronto Star-Letter to the Editor- Toronto, Ont.: Jun 30, 2005. pg. A.33

India's deadly secret HIV/AIDS explosion

June 28.

Several important facts were left out in this article. India may have as many infected people as South Africa, but the population of India is 25 times larger, so the per capita infection rate is much lower. Also, unlike most nations in your table, India is a democracy with a free press. Health and other issues cannot be suppressed as easily as in dictatorships. Who knows what the real statistics are in a nation like Communist China?

Taking advantage of India's freedom to paint misleading, sensationalist portraits damages democracy.

Ron Banerjee, Director, Hindu Conference of Canada, Toronto